Dear Colleagues,

The project ERASMUS+ Mundus Joint Master Degree in Soil Science (emiSS) has been accepted with the support of the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union. EMJMD in Soil Science is organized by a consortium of five Universities: Ondokuz Mayıs University (OMU-Turkey), University of Agriculture in Krakow (UAK-Poland), Agricultural University Plovdiv (AU - Bulgaria), Southern Federal University (SFEDU - Russia), Jordan University of Science and Technology (JUST- Jordan).

The students who are awarded Bachelor of Science degree in soil science /soil science & plant nutrition, agriculture, biology, environmental science, earth science and related relevant fields, can be applied to the emiSS programme. During the 5 years of the project, four (4) student intakes will be performed with 76 scholarship and 40 non-scholarship students. The most successful 19 students in each student intake will get 1000 euro scholarship per month for 24 months.

The first student intake has been announced in December 26th, 2019 and the deadline is March 26th, 2020. You can reach the application procedure, academic programme, student mobility scheme and more information about the emiSS programme on the official web page of emiSS at <http://emissmaster.omu.edu.tr/> or EU EMJMD catalogue 2019 at https://eacea.ec.europa.eu/erasmus-plus/library/scholarships-catalogue_en

I would like you to inform and encourage the successful students around you for the emiSS programme.

Best Regards,

Prof.Dr. Coşkun Gülser
